

Rayleigh, L. (1929). A Photoelectric Method of Measuring the Light of the Night Sky with Studies of the Course of Variation through the Night. Proceedings of the Royal Society A: Mathematical, Physical and Engineering Sciences, 124(794), 395–408.